Non-personal information collected automatically

Intersurgical Ltd. (hereafter referred to as Intersurgical) is committed to the protection of the privacy of its web site visitors. Please note that we monitor statistics about our users, traffic patterns, and site performance information, but these statistics are not shared with third parties and do not include any 'personal information' (for more information, please see section "Visitor identification & How we use Cookies").

Personal information

In order to respond to your enquiries or manage future interactive user functions it may be necessary to ask for personal information such as your name, address, e-mail address and telephone number. If you request a service or submit content to this site we may need to contact you for additional information required to process or fulfil your request. We use your information only to respond to your requests and to further process your enquiry. However, unless compelled by applicable legislation, we will not provide this information to a third party without your permission, except as necessary to process your enquiry or fulfil your requests.

If you give separate consent, we may use this information to contact you via mail, e-mail or phone to inform you of new products, services or promotions that we offer. You will find instructions on how to refuse information of new products, services or promotions in the same email or mail. Alternatively, you can contact us via our Website.

Please rest assured that personal details collected as a result of your response to any of our email marketing campaigns will be stored with Dotmailer, the provider of our service, until such time as you request for it to be removed or you unsubscribe. Remaining on this database means you will receive regular product, event or other service updates as long as you do not unsubscribe. All content is created by our in-house marketing team.

Please note that other Intersurgical companies are not considered as third parties. You can find these other Intersurgical companies in the Website section 'Contact us' <http://www.intersurgical.com/contact>. These companies are data processors of your provided data via our Website.

This site may use technology that lets us collect certain technical information like your IP address, your browser type, the address of Intersurgical website that you opened and the time when you viewed this site. This information is used for solving incidents and errors on the website and is kept for 6 months after your visit to the website and irreversible deleted after that.

We also use Google analytics on the website for improving our products and services. We use Google Analytics provided functionality for IP Anonymization. You can review the Google Analytics privacy policy here <https://support.google.com/analytics/answer/6004245> and possibilities to opt-out of Google Analytics here <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>. Google Analytics data is kept for 50 months after your visit to the website and irreversible deleted after that.

Intersurgical also uses the Lead Forensics Product on our websites for sales and marketing. This software works on the basis of reverse business IP tracking. A small tracking code is placed on our website(s) which then enables us to identify the business IP addresses of our website visitors. The information collected by this software on Intersurgical websites is limited to business IP address, browser type, device type, date and time of the visit. Business IP address is then matched to a database of business points of contact, presenting this information to its customers as potential contacts from the visiting organisation (provided by Lead Forensics on an additional purchase basis). For more information please read their software data compliance document <https://www.leadforensics.com/software-data-compliance>.

Security

Please note that, although no system of technology is completely infallible, Intersurgical has endeavoured to take appropriate measures to prevent risks of unauthorised access to or improper use of your personal information.

Accuracy of collected data

Intersurgical will, on its own initiative or at your request, update or erase any erroneous or outdated personal data retained in connection with the operation of this Site.
